

Air Bag Shredding & Recycling

Resource-One recognized the need for a sustainable alternative for the millions of air bags that had been recalled in the United States. Resource-One was the first in the nation to develop a zero-waste solution that was best for the environment, secure, and backed by the Ohio EPA.

You can be confident that we protect your scrap from the moment it arrives until it meets its intended final destination.

Our processing center is located in Covington, Ohio at our ATF- and EPA-permitted site that is under 24/7 video surveillance.

The Resource-One Process

- Schedule Shipments
- Verify them by Weight, Skid Count, or Scanning
- De-content or Disassemble
- Shred in Proprietary Shredder
- 100% of All Materials Sent for Recycling

Our highest priorities are safety and protecting the integrity of our customers' scrap.

Resource-One (RI) began in 2000 with a mission to truly be a one source for its customers' environmental needs. RI employees are rigorously trained in RCRA/DOT and OSHA HAZWOPER. Safety is our highest priority while we source the best methods for our environment when it comes to the waste our customers generate.

Resource-One was founded on the "4 Rs": Rethink, Reduce, Reuse, Recycle. We have never stopped searching for better methods when it comes to the treatment of waste and finding innovative ways to reuse and recycle our customers' materials. We maintain competitive pricing by bulking our customers' streams at our warehouses, allowing us to serve any size customer.

Our whole goal is to make it easy for our customers to do what is right for our environment and keep things simple. Environmental Specialists and dedicated servicing Account Managers partner with our customers to evaluate waste streams, create waste profiles, prepare shipment paperwork and labels, and provide detailed tracking feedback reports.

Resource-One joined the Superior Environmental Solutions (SES) family of companies in 2020 in order to provide even more services to our customers as their one-stop-shop for all their environmental needs. With SES, RI can now offer tank cleanings, emergency response services, and more.

We help you reduce your environmental risk and increase your control. Our reuse and recycling programs reduce your risk items and landfill-generation materials. Depending on your budget and goals, we can even help you achieve zero-landfill for your facility.

We never settle, and we are always striving to provide you with better service and value.
